BELLE JACKSON

Radio die-hard Belle Jackson has spent the last three years entertaining audiences as one-third of the Ben, Liam & Belle show on the Nova network. Having wrapped up this role in late 2025, Belle is looking forward to returning to her roots in 2026, joining ARN as Ben & Liam's producer in the KIIS Adelaide breakfast slot - the three remaining an unstoppable trio.

Jackson grew up in Melbourne and fell in love with radio at a young age, being a proud radio fan-girl through her teens. She began volunteering at SYN at 16 and landed her first professional producing gig at 19 with SCA's Fox and Triple M. From there Jackson moved to ABC's Triple J and began producing Ben & Liam's program and moved with them to Adelaide's Nova919 – before Ben, Liam & Belle found its place at Nova100.

Jackson adores music, and listeners are well-acquainted with her Jonas Brothers obsession which Ben & Liam like to bring up regularly. When she's not having fun producing, or on-air with Ben & Liam, she may be found with either a dumbbell or cocktail in-hand – it's all about balance.

Away from her media commitments Belle is an animal-lover and proud Cat Protection Society and RSPCA ambassador, is vocal in her animal rights advocacy and chooses a vegetarian diet. There's no greater example of her love for furry friends, than her dedication to George her rescue cat.

Belle is a brilliant MC, highly experienced voiceover artist and is very open to commercial projects with brands that she loves. As a radio superfan, Belle is passionate about the radio industry as a whole and is excited to be part of a new wave of voices that can be heard across the airwaves.
